About the Area

Westtown Milwaukee

The West Side of Downtown Milwaukee is quickly becoming a hot spot for Milwaukee's booming entertainment industry. Home to the Deer District, Old World Third Street and historic venues like the Riverside Theater, Miller High Life Theater and Turner Hall Ballroom, Westtown is a Milwaukee Neighborhood steeped in rich history. Byron Kilbourn claimed land on the West bank of the Milwaukee River, today's Juneau Avenue, in 1834. Over the years, the area was inhabited by early German and Irish settlers, who's presence can still be felt in the pubs, beer halls and cobble stone streets of Old World Third Street. After Milwaukee was deemed a City in 1846, Westtown became the site of many public institutions such as the Courthouse and the Central Public Library, creating the heart of downtown. Over the decades, the neighborhood has grown in to a great mix of art, entertainment, business and public infrastructure, and is still expanding. With the recent revitalization of the Wisconsin Avenue corridor, developments have been made at Grand Avenue Mall, now a bustling market hall with various restaurants, bars and retail. Across the street, the Milwaukee Symphony Orchestra boasts the new retrofitted Warner Grand Theater as their new home. Westtown also borders Marquette University, who's campus mixes history with innovation. In conjunction with the University, a local developer has announced plans for an 11-acre development on the South end of the campus, just to the west of I-94. This new entertainment complex will include a professional outdoor soccer stadium, a concert venue, an upscale hotel and new restaurants – all of which will further bolster the already booming Westtown Neighborhood while solidifying Milwaukee as a hub for sports and entertainment.

State Of Wisconsin | Broker Disclosure

Non-Residential Customers

Wisconsin law requires all real estate licensees to give the following information about brokerage services to prospective customers.

Prior to negotiating on your behalf the Brokerage firm, or an agent associated with the firm, must provide you the following disclosure statement:

Broker Disclosure to Customers

You are a customer of the broker. The broker is either an agent of another party in the transaction or a subagent of another broker who is the agent of another party in the transaction. The broker, or a salesperson acting on behalf of the broker, may provide brokerage services to you, the broker owes you, the customer, the following duties:

- The duty to provide brokerage services to you fairly and honestly.
- The duty to exercise reasonable skill and care in providing brokerage services to you.
 - The duty to provide you with accurate information about market conditions with a reasonable time if you request it, unless prohibited by law.
- The duty to protect your confidentiality. Unless the law requires it, the broker will not disclose your confidential information or the confidential information to other parties.
- The duty to safeguard trust funds and other property the broker holds.
- The duty, when negotiating, to present contract proposals in an objective and unbiased manner and disclose the advantages and disadvantages of the proposals.

Please review this information carefully. A broker or salesperson can answer your questions about brokerage services, but if you need legal advice, tax advice or a professional home inspection contact an attorney, tax advisor, or home inspector. This disclosure is required by section 452.135 of the Wisconsin statutes and is for information only. It is a plain-language summary of a broker's duties to a customer under section 452.133 (1) of the Wisconsin statutes.

Confidentiality Notice to Customers

Broker will keep confidential any information given to broker in confidence, or any information obtained by broker that he or she knows a reasonable person would want to be kept confidential. Unless the information must be disclosed by law or you authorize the broker to disclose particular information. A broker shall continue to keep the information confidential after broker is no longer providing brokerage services to you.

The following information is required to be disclosed by law:

1. Material adverse facts, as defined in section 452.01 (5g) of the Wisconsin Statutes.
2. Any facts known by the broker that contradict any information included in a written inspection report on the property or real estate that is the subject of the transaction.

No representation is made as to the legal validity of any provision or the adequacy of any provision in any specific transaction.

Copyright 2007 by Wisconsin REALTORS Association.
Drafted by Attorney Debra Peterson Conrad.

To ensure that the broker is aware of what specific information you consider confidential, you may list that information below. At a later time, you may also provide the broker with other information you consider to be confidential.

Definition of Material Adverse Facts

A "material adverse fact" is defined in Wis. Stat 452.01 (5g) as an adverse fact that a party indicates is of such significance, or that is generally recognized by a competent licensee as being of such significance to a reasonable party, that it affects or would affect the party's decision to enter into a contract or agreement concerning a transaction or affects or would affect the party's decision to enter into a contract or agreement concerning a transaction or affects or would affect the party's decision about the terms of such a contract or agreement. An "adverse" fact is defined in Wis. Stat. 452.01 (1e) as a condition or occurrence that a competent licensee generally recognizes will significantly and adversely affect the value of the property, significantly reduce the structural integrity of improvements to real estate, or present a significant health risk to occupants of the property; or information that indicates that a party to a transaction is not able to or does not intend to meet his or her obligations under a contract or agreement made concerning the transaction.
