

Please note that floor plans provided by Poppin are based on measurements provided by third parties (e.g. customers, architects, landlords) and that such measurements sometimes contain errors and incomplete or imprecise information. Poppin is relying only on the information provided and will not be responsible for any liability or additional costs if the data is not accurate. Customer is also solely responsible for compliance with any building or regulatory requirements, including fire codes and the ADA, any of which may necessitate changes to this floor plan.

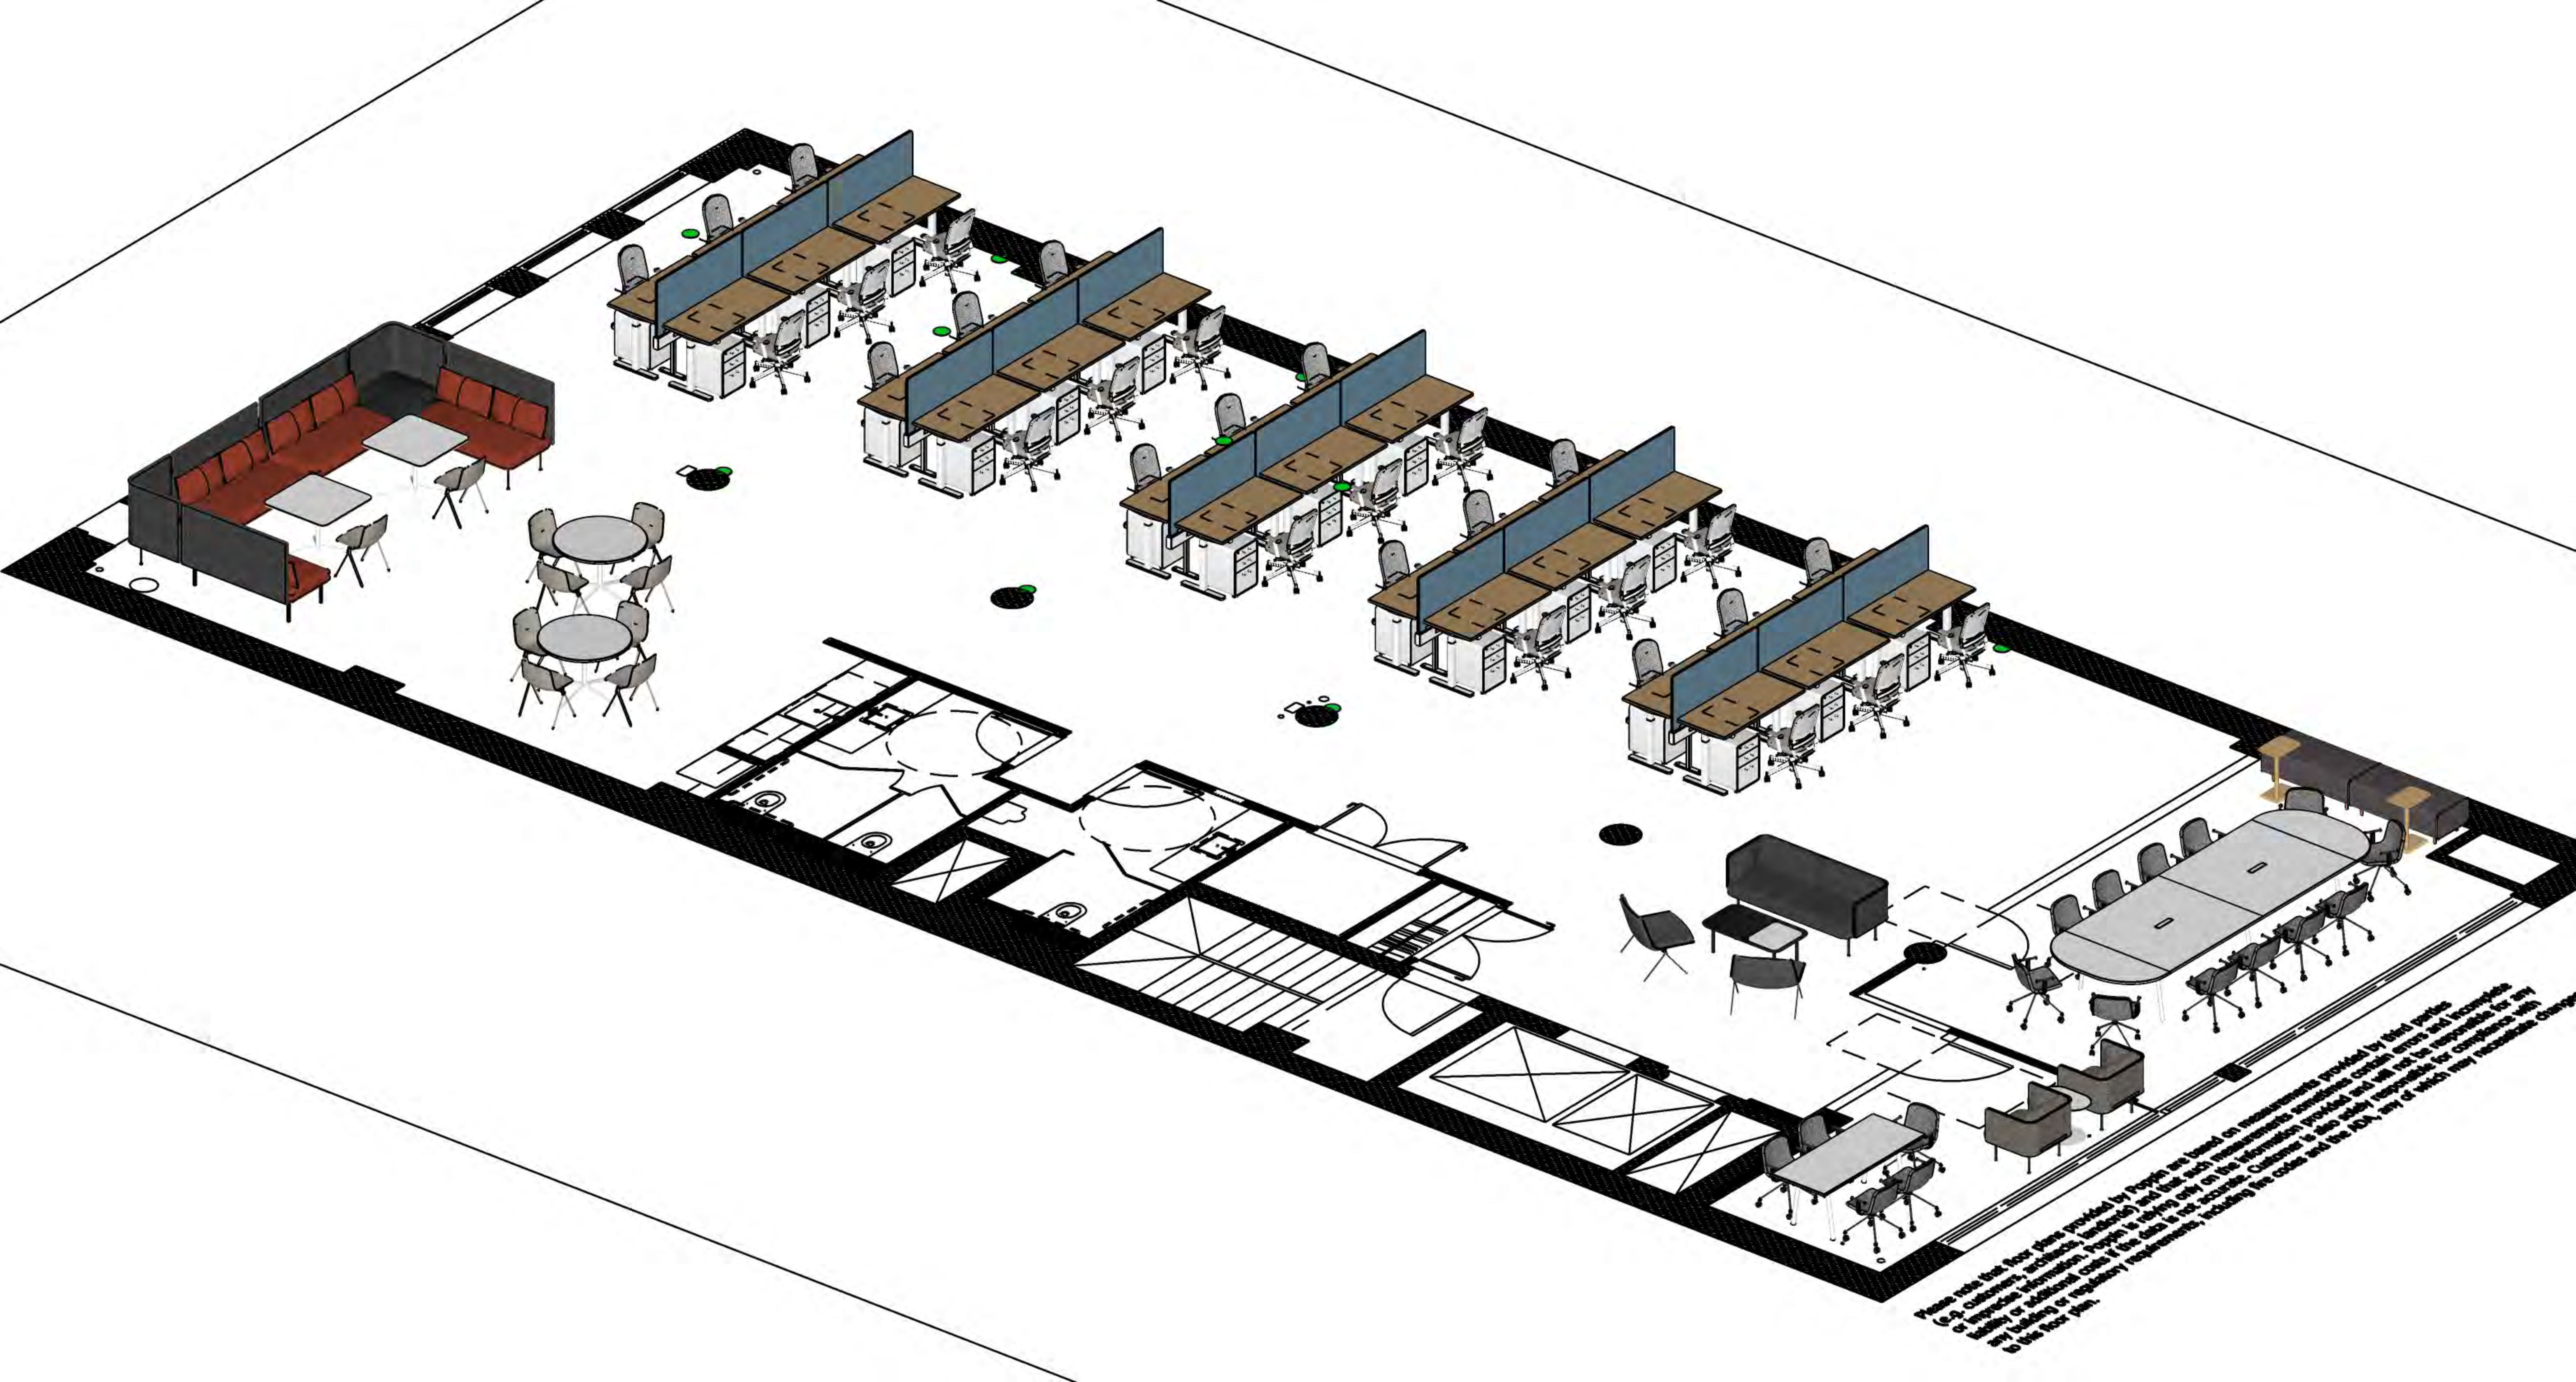

Please note that floor plans provided by Proplan are based on measurements provided by third parties (e.g. customers, architects, landlords) and that such measurements sometimes contain errors and inaccuracies or incorrect information. Proplan is relying only on the information provided and will not be responsible for any liability or additional costs if the data is not accurate. Customer is also solely responsible for compliance with any building or regulatory requirements, including fire codes and the ADA, any of which may necessitate changes to the floor plan.

Please note that floor plans provided by Poppin are based on measurements provided by third parties (e.g. customers, architects, landlords) and that such measurements sometimes contain errors and incomplete or imprecise information. Poppin is relying only on the information provided and will not be responsible for any liability or additional costs if the data is not accurate. Customer is also solely responsible for compliance with any building or regulatory requirements, including fire codes and the ADA, any of which may necessitate changes to this floor plan.

Please note that floor plans provided by Popin are based on measurements provided by third parties (e.g. customers, architects, landlords) and that such measurements sometimes contain errors and incomplete or incorrect information. Popin is relying only on the information provided and will not be responsible for any liability or additional costs if the data is not accurate. Customer is also solely responsible for compliance with any building or regulatory requirements, including fire codes and the ADA, any of which may necessitate changes to the floor plan.

Please note that floor plans provided by Poppin are based on measurements provided by third parties (e.g. customers, architects, landlords) and that such measurements sometimes contain errors and incomplete or imprecise information. Poppin is relying only on the information provided and will not be responsible for any liability or additional costs if the data is not accurate. Customer is also solely responsible for compliance with any building or regulatory requirements, including fire codes and the ADA, any of which may necessitate changes to this floor plan.